10,000 SCHOOLBOYS RUN RELAY RACE

Young Athletes Representing Every School in New York City Compete in Athletic Meet.

New York, June 6.—More than 10,000 schoolboys took part in an athletic meet in Central park today, under the auspices of the Public Schools Athletic League. The games were witnessed by many prominent men and city officials.

Every school in the city was represented. The climax to the meet was a relay race in which 200 teams of 50 boys each took place at the same time that hundreds of other youngsters were trying to establish jumping records. Thousands of boys took part in the game simultaneously.

The first on the program was a two-minute drill by 10,000 boys, showing the breathing calisthenic and posture drill as used three times daily in the schools to fill lungs with air, relieve the strain of attention, overcome desk fatigue, and to give the boys a chance to divide into teams of 50 for the jumping contest, to determine the total school jump. Boy No. 1 jumped from a mark and boy No. 2 jumped from the new mark.

Selected schools gave a 15-minute exhibition of indoor baseball, basketball, prisoner's base and other games, approved as having direct physical training value.

NEOSALVARSAN

The Improved German Remedy, "914," for Blood Poison.

We were among the first physicians in America to advocate Prof. Ehrlich's Great German Salvarsan "914" for Blood Poison, and have probably used successfully more of this preparation than any other. Specialist in the Southwest, and while never having had a patient out of the hundreds we have treated with this remedy to experience a single dangerous or untoward symptom, we realize that some inexperienced doctors have brought their patients to grave disaster through unskilled administering of this remedy. Therefore, we hail with delight and advise the use of Prof. Ehrlich's latest triumph, Neosalvarsan "914" for Blood Poison. It is more soluble, reducing the possibility of induration, is decidedly more effective and may be injected without harm or pain in other parts of the body than the vein.

Do not submit to the use of dangerous substitutes or inferior treatments for Blood Poison.

CHRIS VON DER AHE DIES IN ST. LOUIS

Former Manager of St. Louis Cardinals, After Long Illness, Dies in St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., June 6.—Chris Von der Ahe, owner of the old St. Louis baseball team of 1882-83 and years ago one of the best known baseball managers in the country, died at his home here late Thursday.

Von der Ahe had been seriously ill for two weeks and was confined to his bed by cirrhosis of the liver and dropsy. He was 61 years old. He was born in Germany and came to this country in 1870. He was a successful business man and a popular one. He was a member of the St. Louis club since 1882, when he bought a majority of stock in the St. Louis baseball association for $100,000. In the following years he made $500,000 from the investment. When the St. Louis club was sold to the American association, Von der Ahe's share became the famous four-time pennant winners of 1882-83 and 1884-85. His last winning club being that of 1891, which finished second in the American association.

Von der Ahe had entered the 12-club National league, but his teams invariably finished last or next to last until 1895, when he was sold to the St. Louis club. He sold to satisfy the demands of Von der Ahe's creditors.

In a prosperous days Von der Ahe spent money like water. His chief delight was to outstep and outdrink other prosperous men. He bought champagne for every one that walked up to the bar in which he had been standing. The last few years he had been on the verge of bankruptcy. A little while ago he had been brought in enough to keep him from bankruptcy.

Old time baseball friends contributed regularly to his living.

COURCHESNE BRIDGE CLOSED FOR REPAIR

A "closed for repairs" sign is hanging over the Courchesne bridge across the river above the Courchesne quarries. The El Paso Bridge & Iron company is improving the bridge and repairing the damage done by the river during the flood season last year.

New piles are being driven by a big steam hammer to replace the short ones which failed to hold the bridge fast during the flood time. The company will also be reinforced and new braces added. The bridge and iron company has just completed the rebuilding of the Fabens bridge by driving new 60 foot long piles under it, and taking the sag out of the bridge across the river to the island.

FORGE OF 75 MEN WORK ON SYSTEM

Deming Phone Exchange Adequate for City of 15,000; Water Suit Is Heard.

The Deming office of The El Paso Herald is in the Chamber of Commerce. Roy Badelchek is correspondent. The Herald's distributor in Deming is Leffler & Field, Great and News Store. The Herald will be delivered to all parts of the city, the same night of publication, at 60 cents per month.

Deming, N. M., June 6.—The Mountain States Telephone & Telegraph company is employing 75 men now in Deming, and pushing to completion a new telephone system for the town. The business offices of the telephone company have been moved into the new building on Gold avenue, and the first switchboard is being installed in a new building now. By the first of September the new system will be completely installed, and all the poles and overhead wire in the business district will be removed, the company using the underground conduit system.

Deming is now the headquarters of the Mountain States Telephone & Telegraph company for the following counties in Arizona: Gila, Graham and Greenlee, and the following counties in New Mexico: Luna, Grant, Dona Ana and Sierra. There are 14 exchanges in these counties and all of the bookkeeping is handled from the Deming office. R. K. Flood, who resides in Deming, being the district manager. The new telephone exchange is equipped with hot water heating system and with hot and cold water, rest room and bath for the girl operators and with an air cooling system by which the temperature in the building in the summer time may be kept cool and pleasant. This air cooling system alone cost $1500. With the new equipment which has been installed, a city of 15,000 people can be accommodated. The commercial agents of the company have made a study of this community and estimated that Deming will be, in the natural course of things, a town of 15,000 people in a very few years.

Water Suit Is Heard.

The first round in the legal battle for the possession of the flood waters of the Mimbres river was waged before Judge Collin Nebbett at the county courthouse and won by the Rio Mimbres Irrigation company, the defendant corporation, and the plaintiff, the Mimbres Valley Irrigation company. The suit was dismissed on the grounds that the plaintiff failed in its complaint to show grounds for the action. The plaintiff was represented by Fred Sherman and the defendant by Judge P. F. Adams, of Albuquerque. Up to yesterday no further action had been taken by the plaintiff, but it is known that further action is planned and probably will be taken after the return of the plaintiff's counsel from Albuquerque and Santa Fe.

Plaintiff's Contentions.

The main contention of the plaintiff, as set forth in the complaint, seemed to be a priority of right. In part, the complaint reads:

"The defendant wrongfully and unjustly, intending to injure or damage the plaintiff, threatened and proposed to construct a large ditch, to deepen and enlarge other ditches or canals above the dam, ditches and canals of the plaintiff, and to divert the flow of the water to and over other lands than those of the members of the plaintiff corporation. And by means of said ditches and canals, prevent the flow of the water to which plaintiff is entitled through the channel of the said Mimbres river, and to divert the flow of the water to and over other lands than those of the members of the plaintiff corporation and to wholly deprive plaintiff of the use and enjoyment of the waters of the Mimbres river."

"That the defendant never has used any of the flood waters of the Mimbres river for the purpose of irrigation, agriculture, domestic or for any other purpose."

In conclusion, the plaintiff asked that the temporary writ of injunction restraining the defendant from completing the work alleged to have been begun, be made permanent; that the court decree the plaintiff's right to all the flood waters of the Mimbres river and that the costs of the action be assessed against the defendant.

Defendant's Answer.

In its answer to the complaint, the defendant stated that the plaintiff failed to state fact sufficient on which to base a cause of action. The main objections were that the plaintiff did not set forth the fact that it had ever acquired rights to the flood water of the Mimbres river in the manner required by law; that no measurement of the flow of the river was shown; that if water was not diverted by defendant that it would reach the point of diversion claimed by plaintiff; that a limit is placed by the law on the amount of water that can be used per acre and that plaintiff's right or might not be allowed all the water under the alleged holding.

The defendant asked that $500 damages be assessed against the plaintiff and also the costs of the action.

A. W. Haller, chief engineer of the Pacific Light & Traction company, of New York, was in Deming on business. Mr. Ben Larsen is spending a few days with his sister in Silver City. The Eagle restaurant has commenced business. It is located on Pine street, between Gold and Silver, and is owned by Van Kea & company.

Rev. H. P. McCurdy and family, of Brownwood, Tex., will spend the year with their relatives near Honda. Rev. McCurdy is pastor of the First Presbyterian church at Brownwood, and will spend a vacation of a year farming on the place of his son-in-law, A. T. Coffin. Mr. Salbra is getting out a catalog of the Deering nursery, which he is going to put in this year. Mr. Salbra and his father own large nurseries in Texas, Alabama and Mississippi.

It is the purpose to operate the line daily, the autos running to the points named and to Tyrone and Leopold, when these two camps open, which will be in the next few months. Let's Suppose

Suppose a big bank—well established—having a large surplus and a record of paying 10 percent dividends for nearly fifty years, offered you $5,000 of its stock at par, and the privilege of paying for it $250.00 a year until paid. Suppose you were to get the dividends each year while paying, too. Wouldn't that be a better proposition for you than paying $225.00 each year, and not getting any dividends? Figure it out!

This partly illustrates the difference in buying insurance from the Union Central Life, of Cincinnati, and from other companies which pay no dividends. You may pay the others a little less the first year—perhaps—but that's about all. Union Central policies cost less each year you have them, while the dividends continue as long as you live—even after your policy is paid up. That's the kind of life insurance you ought to have.
